AUTHOR'S/SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Current law requires a defendant to be released on a reduced bond or a personal bond if the state is not ready for trial within 90 days of an arrest in a felony case. Defendants who violate parole by committing additional offenses are guaranteed to be offered bond and the state does not have the ability to hold the defendant without bond until the time of the trial.

S.J.R. 17 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to authorize denial of bail to a criminal defendant who violates a condition of the defendant's release pending trial.

FISCAL NOTE, 79TH LEGISLATIVE REGULAR SESSION

March 23, 2005

TO: Honorable John Whitmire, Chair, Senate Committee on Criminal Justice

FROM: John S. O'Brien, Deputy Director, Legislative Budget Board

IN RE: SJR17 by Staples (Proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing the denial of bail to a criminal defendant who violates a condition of the defendant's release pending trial.), As Introduced

No fiscal implication to the State is anticipated, other than the cost of publication.

The cost to the state for publication of the resolution is $66,497.

The resolution would require that a proposed constitutional amendment be placed on the ballot at an election to be held November 8, 2005 to authorize a district judge to deny bail to a felony criminal defendant who violates a condition of the defendant's release pending trial.

Local Government Impact

If the amendment were to be adopted by the voters, and if there were to be an increase in the number of persons denied bail as a result of enactment of the amendment, there would be an increase in the number of persons held in a county jail pending trial. According to the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, the statewide average incarceration rate is $36 per day per inmate. The cost for incarcerating persons denied bail pending trial would vary, depending on the number of days held, the number of persons denied bail, and the individual incarceration rate of each county jail.

Criminal Jurisprudence
Committee Report (Unamended)

BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE

Current law requires a criminal defendant to be released on a reduced bond or a personal bond if the state is not ready for trial within 90 days of arrest in a felony case. However, defendants who violate a condition of their bond are guaranteed to be offered an additional bond because current law does not allow the state to hold the defendants without bond until the time of the trial. SJR 17 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to authorize denial of bail to a criminal defendant who violates a condition of the defendant's release pending trial.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

It is the committee's opinion that this resolution does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, department, agency, or institution.

ANALYSIS

SJR 17 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to authorize denial of bail to a criminal defendant who violates a condition of the defendant's release pending trial related to the safety of a victim of the alleged offense or to the safety of the community. The election on the specific proposition would take place on November 8, 2005.

EFFECTIVE DATE

SJR 17 requires the proposed constitutional amendment to be submitted to the voters at an election to be held on November 8, 2005, and requires the ballot to be printed to permit voting for or against the specific proposition.
